

Notes on NBA-Data-Science folder

What?

This folder contains code and data analysis based on NBA statistics. The available data is big and allows for both shallow and deeper analysis.

Why?

The projects are made in part for fun and in part to develop skills beyond what is required by my education. I also do this to display my own skills and ability to learn.

Disclaimer

In these projects there will be several instances of bad coding practice and sub-optimal solutions.

The projects are mostly made as proofs-of-concepts that can be built upon further in better and more professional ways.

Still, I have found this independent work to be inspiring and it seems to be a good way to learn.
